Dear Music Lovers,

Music is a great art and a complex and difficult craft. Singing the simplest song to perfection requires a combination of aptitude, training and special insight. These attributes start with training under a guru, but after that, years of experience and devotion are required for a person to acquire professional finesse. Unfortunately in India facilities for this type of training in recording have been unavailable for the common man.

It is very heartening to note that Mr.Nandi Duggal has pioneered this concept with the inception of 'Showbiz Enterprises and Studios. He has not only provided a facility for young singers to sing and record over the music tracks of their favourite film songs, but has also been providing invaluable guidance on the art and science of Professional Singing .

I congratulate Mr.Duggal for his efforts and request him to set up many more such studios in India. I request patrons to come forward and invest in such studios under his guidance so that many such centers are available. I am sure this will contribute to raising the standards of singing in future generations, which can bring new singers in the world of Music .

Musically Yours,

Naushad Ali
